THE BOHEMIAN GIRL.-To-morrow night the Richmond Amateur Opera Troupe will present at the Theatre Balfe's charming opera "The Bohemian Girl," which they have had under rehearsal for some time past and which we are assured from personal observation will be performed in a style not only creditable to themselves, but fully equal to and in some respects surpassing professional performances of the same opera. Our citizens have had on former occasions opportunities of judging for themselves of the merits of most of the individual performers in the Bohemian Girl, and the general verdict has been most favorable. New candidates for public favor will appear on this occasion, and their efforts will tend to add to the effectiveness of the opera.

There will be a matines at the Theatre Saturday afternoon, when the Bohemian Girl will be repeated. The proceeds of this performance will be devoted to the Lee Memorial fund.
